

Caution: Poison Ivy

Poison ivy is a vine commonly found along the Cottonwood Grove Trail. The vine can be found on the ground and climbing trees or shrubs. It can be identified by its 3 dark, shiny leaflets or by the hairy looking roots that attach the vine to a tree or shrub. The oil in the vine that can cause an allergic reaction is present year around so, if you are unsure if a vine/plant is Poison Ivy your best bet is to avoid contact.
